Dance School and Company

The faculty of Metropolitan Academy of Dance feels that one of the most important aspects of dance training is providing dancers with a sense of well-being and self-confidence. It gives a person a feeling of accomplishment and an improved self-image. Dance training not only improves coordination and physical strength, it strengthens discipline which will in turn carry over to all areas of a person's life. All teachers in our school are highly trained professionals with extensive teaching experience.

We offer a full range of classes for students of all ages and levels, from preschool through professional.
